Description

Professional sealant for the larger project. The 45291 sealant from Airpress is a universal tool for applying adhesives, silicones and other sealants. With a long aluminum tube you can apply materials from bags (so-called sausages) as well as silicone patterns.

The preformed and balanced handle with easily accessible trigger makes the tool comfortable to use. Silent operation - maximum 70dB (A), guarantees comfort. With the pressure regulator in standard equipment you can set the power and the amount of material to be used. Masses with different densities can be applied with a pressure adjustable up to 90 kg. Low air consumption - only 40 l / min allows the use of the tool with the smallest portable compressors. Especially recommended for construction work when applying adhesives, silicones, connections. Reliable when gluing and sealing car windows.
